The Needs of Education Should Drive the Technological Applications.
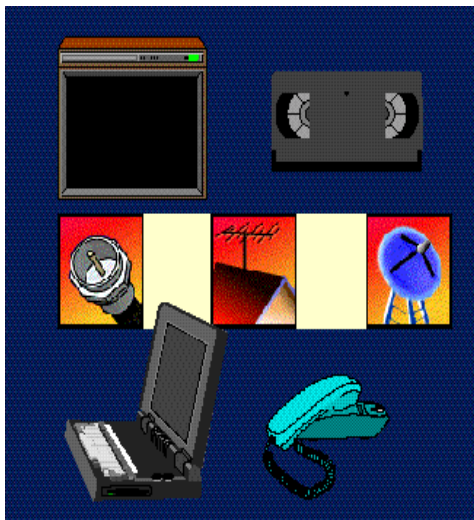

Remember:

The use of technology does not replace effective instruction and meaningful content.

Integration of EDNET technology poses some immediate questions that teachers will want to quickly implement into their style of teaching. Below are some questions to consider. Be sure the EDNET faculty trainer has answered all of these to your satisfaction and that you feel comfortable implementing any of them.

1. How will my presentation look and sound on TV?

2. How will my graphics be viewed on the TV screen?

3. Can I incorporate video clips with my lesson?

4. How will I sound over the monitor?

5. What will I look like? More important–what will my students at a remote site look like and how will they see me?

6. How will the use of the technology improve what I am already doing well?
